Poros

Access

By boat: Poros is connected to Piraeus harbor everyday with trailer ships (2h30), as well as with speedboats (1h-1h20). The ships initially stop at Aegina and Methana and then approach Poros harbor.

By car: You can go to Poros either with your own car, or by bus, until Galatas settlement in Peloponnese and then cross the sea with passenger boats (very often timetable) or with ferry boats. Galatas is 174km away from Athens.
Bus Station of Peloponnese: (+30) 210 5124910-11-12

Domestic transportation

For your transport on the island you can use public bus transport to visit the island's sights, boats to approach some beaches, bikes for quick and pleasant transport among pine trees or on foot to go wherever you want.
Marinas: There is an organized marina, where boats can refuel and have water and electricity access.

Hydra

Access

By boat: Hydra is connected to Piraeus with closed type speedboats, so you can in one hour and 30 minutes reach the island. The frequency of service varies depending on the season. Is also connected with the other islands of the Saronic Gulf, Spetses and Poros and also with Hermione and Porto Heli of Argolida prefecture.
Piraeus Port Authority: (+30) 210 4593104
Hydra Port authority: (+30) 22980 52279

By car: You can get with your vehicle up to Metohi, an area in Argolida, facing the Hydra. From there often depart boats to Hydra. Alternatively you can use the marine taxi.

Domestic transportations

In Hydra there are no cars and all transport are conducted either by foot or on donkeys.
Taxi boats: For getting around the island you can use taxi boats, as well as for your transition to neighboring islands of the Saronic Gulf and the Peloponnese.

Marinas: If you are visiting Hydra by boat you can anchor in the main harbor, where you can refuel. Depending on weather there are other places you can anchor.

Spetses

Access

By boat: Spetses are connected on a daily basis with the harbor of Piraeus through speed boats (about 2 hours). The timetable varies according to the season of the year.

By car: You have the choice to drive up to Kosta in Argolida (about 180 kilometers away from Athens) and then get to Spetses by sea taxi, boat or ferry boat (a distance of 1,5 miles). You can also reach Spetses by sea taxi through Ermioni, Porto Heli and Ydra.

Local transportation

Cars are not allowed on the island and motorcycles can only travel according to a strict timetable (they are not allowed on the coastal road from 19:30 to 2:30). However, there are buses that can take you to all the important locations of the island.

Marinas: If you visit Spetses by boat, you can anchor either in the old harbor or in the new and supply with anything you might need.
